ENVIRONMENTAL TESTING

LabTest Certification Inc., an independent Certification Body (CB) with ISO 17025 accreditation, is recognized to test & certify various product categories for environmental safety and product compliance. Environmental testing provides manufacturers with vital information regarding performance, taking products to their operation limits to see how they will function once exposed to extremes. LabTest provides testing and certification services to comply with environmental safety standards such as ASTM, SAE, ISO/IEC, MIL-STD-810, IEC/EN 60068 series, various OEM standards and more. We can also test according to your own criteria, evaluate prototypes, and provide advice on failure trend analysis to aid in product refinement.
